THE NEW AQUATERRA BIO-SOURCED KNIFE

At Wichard, we care about the environment. Wichard has gone one step further with our bio-sourced knife, replacing standard materials such as polyamide and polypropylene with naturally occurring products. For this model, we've selected a resin made from castor oil and ground sea shells.

This approach to design and production has cut the carbon footprint for this new Aquaterra knife by 35% in relation to the old range of Wichard knives.

If you love nature and outdoor sports and want to help protect the environment, then this is the knife for you.
