Unique collector's edition of Eldris

Morakniv is now announcing an exclusive limited edition version of Eldris, available for 2018. It is the first version of the brand new concept, with great collector's value.

Morakniv Eldris is small and handy knife that is easy to bring along on the outdoor adventure. It was first launched in five standard colors. Now Morakniv announces the brand new concept Eldris Limited Edition, where the first version has the new exclusive color aubergine. The knife is made in a limited amount and is available during 2018. The 2018 Limited Edition is set to be the first of many future colors, where every edition will have a high collector's value.

“This is a once in a life time opportunity for the already hooked Morakniv fans as well as for those who've recently become outdoor enthusiasts. Part from the fact that the knife looks great in its new colorful suit, it's most of all a useful little fellow. It's perfect for the family that wants to go out into the nearby forest for an everyday adventure, for the hunter that is about to take care of his game, or for the hiker that needs to light the evening camp fire. Also, it's the opportunity to join this journey from the very start. This is the beginning of a new tradition, where we'll eventually launch additional limited editions. So there's certainly a good idea to act quickly and make sure to get a hold of an Eldris Limited Edition”, says Niclas Wiklund, Product Manager at Morakniv.
