This year's Morakniv is turquoise and orange

The colors of 2018 are turquoise and orange. Last year's success with the Color of the Year now returns. Two of the most appreciated Morakniv craft knives are now available in a truly eye catching color combination.

For the third year in a row Morakniv announces a unique color combination for their most classic craft knives, in the returning concept Morakniv Color of the Year. Now the company can present the models and colors of 2018: Basic 511 and Basic 546 in turquoise and orange.

"There was never any doubt. After last year's success we knew we had to do it again. The response from both professionals and enthusiasts were massive and positive. Everyone wanted a knife that stood out and made a statement. Therefore, we've challenged ourselves – as well as the users – even further with this even more striking color combination. If 2017 was cool lime, we've taken it to a whole new level for 2018. The turquoise and orange become a sparkling color touch, as well as highly visible. The latter also adds to the safety, since it's easily located on the construction site or in the toolkit", says Niclas Wiklund, Product Manager at Morakniv.

The two knife models that are available in the Color of the Year are Basic 511 (carbon steel blade) and Basic 546 (stainless steel blade).
