

Dangate are proud to stock Avian-X's high quality, hard-wearing decoys for the waterfowl season

- Greylag and Pinkfoot painted goose decoys from Avian-X are the first on the European market.
- Avian-X have great attention to detail, and design many of their newer decoys with unique head positions. Their realistic looking decoys have proved successful time and time again on the hunt, in all weather conditions.
- Softer plastic means that the decoys will last for longer and take more of a beating. This also ensures that in frozen weather conditions, the decoys won't crack, and getting snow and ice off is as easy as giving them a brush off.

Avian-X decoys are created in a high quality, with great attention to detail. Painted Greylag and Pinkfoot decoys are the first to be on the European market. These add a new option for those who do not have the time to re-flock their decoys every single year. It also ensures that the decoys stay fresh and great looking, even when handled by the toughest waterfowlers. Made of a softer plastic compared to many of the competitors, these decoys are not brittle even when the temperature drops below zero. This means they are easier to handle when cold, and any snow or ice is easily removed without the risk of breaking the decoys.

Avian-X's attention to detail is so great that many of the decoys have varied head positions, with no two in the same box looking identical. Variety of positions is very advantageous when out on the hunt, as it convinces the real thing that these are not just decoys. Avian-X combines ultra-realistic paint schemes, carefully crafted moulding and true to life postures to maximize your hunt. They create their decoys for the extreme hunters, the ones who get out there even when the weather is harsh and the conditions are less than ideal.

Dangate are proud to include Avian-X in their line up of high quality decoys. Being able to cater to all varieties of hunter is something prized by the company, and on all fronts, Avian-X delivers every single time.
