

Effective and regular training is difficult not only in times of Covid 19. The company KEILERSHOOT took on this topic and developed an innovative air rifle shooting gallery, the Keilershoot Pro. An ingenious hometrainer for moving shooting.

Nowadays, multi-shot air rifles correspond to the rifles used for hunting and equipped with a RED-DOT or similar, they represent fantastic training devices to practice trigger control, holding and much more. Several hundred shots a day are easily possible.

The Keilershoot Pro is shot at with these air rifles (or pistols). A high-quality air rifle system that is unique in the world with this equipment. Up to 40 different pop up and paper targets can be driven through the air rifle gallery in different speed modes and controlled by a remote control.

In addition, obstacles in the form of trees can be clamped in front of the targets in order to practice hits between gaps. The backgrounds can be switched to suit different lighting conditions or seasons.
