BALLISTOL animal defence spray with RSG cap suitable for use by the authorities

Product innovation for safe use

Aham, Feb. 2024 - BALLISTOL, manufacturer of the well-known Ballistol Universal Oil, has been selling highly effective animal defence sprays, also known as pepper sprays, for many years. A new addition to the portfolio of the traditional company from Lower Bavaria is the "Pepper-KO RSG" spray can with RSG cap.

The Pepper-KO RSG animal defence spray is available in a 125 ml spray can and offers optimum handling thanks to its size and RSG cap. The RSG spray head complies with the official technical authority delivery conditions for irritant spraying devices (RSG) and is therefore also suitable for all law enforcement officers. The wide handle of the cap is specially optimised for use with gloves to ensure easy and safe operation. In addition, the RSG spray head has an innovative finger lock that prevents the index finger from accidentally covering the nozzle when enclosing the can.

Ballistol Pepper-KO contains a highly effective pepper concentrate made from natural ingredients. With a spray range of up to 4 metres, the defence spray enables the user to maintain a safe distance from potential attackers or threats and thus ensure personal safety.

All Ballistol Pepper-KO products meet all safety requirements, are freely available in Germany for sale and represent a legal and effective solution for self-defence.

Pepper-KO RSG is now available from well-stocked specialist retailers and online.
